

Research on Author

Now let's learn more about the author through research. Use biographies, scholastic.com, the author's website, and any other appropriate and hard sources (Wikipedia is not a reputable source).

Answer the following questions and include any facts that you think are important. You do not have to write this part in complete sentences. However, your facts need to be clear and detailed as we are going to be turning this research into our final paragraph in the essay.

When was your author born?	Is your author still alive? If not, when did they pass away?
Why did your author start writing?	What are some of your author's popular pieces?
Any additional information?	Any additional information?

List other books by your author.

(The more the merrier!)
