

Happy New Year,

I hope you enjoyed a wonderful holiday season. I am looking forward to seeing all of the students on Monday.

Along with welcoming a new year we will also be welcoming a new student. Anastasia Bodnar will be joining our classroom on Monday.

I know that the students will be excited to have a new friend in the room.

We will be busy learning many new concepts during the month of January. Our focus during religion will be on celebrating the Good News of Jesus. We will also discuss the Epiphany and Baptism of Jesus. The students will be introduced to the works of Martin Luther King Jr. during social studies. Reading skills will continue to be developed through center work and independent reading time. We will continue to work on identifying adjectives and developing writing skills. Math time will concentrate on understanding the importance of place value in numbers.

January 7- Pizza with a Purpose
