

7SS Newsletter – 9.16.19

Hello 7th Grade Parents,

Today, 7th grade students will officially begin studying the United States Constitution, which lays out the plan for our nation's government. At the end of the unit, the students will take a test on the United States Constitution. A passing grade is a requirement for graduation.

All handouts and study resources are located on the students' Google Classroom. We will review all of the important details in class together and discuss any questions. The students will also work on pieces of the Study Guide as we go along so that they do not wait until the night before to complete the resource.

The test will be on Tuesday, October 8th. Study strategies include completing and reviewing the study guide, re-reading all handouts, reviewing all questions on the handouts, creating flashcards, completing Quizlets, studying with a friend or family member, etc.

Please let me know if you have any questions.
